Andrea Raggambi's paintings are derived by her desire to bring a fun, bright, and unique focal point to personal living spaces that also give back to her local community. She uses acrylic as well as other media like molding paste and gel to add texture, shine and depth. She can apply her style to many color choices to deliver unique, customized commissioned pieces to enhance any home.

Andrea is also committed to giving back to her community and donates 15% of the total sale price of all pieces to a local charity listed on her website (www.artpactful.com) or of the buyers' choice.

This exhibition features medium to large acrylic paintings, which will be on display until March 7, 2020.

She is a member of the Arlington Artists Alliance, and her works have been displayed and sold at the Gallery Clarendon in Arlington, VA.

“The Arlington Artists Alliance has partnered with Verre Wine Bar and other venues throughout Arlington, with the mission of bringing arts by local artists to places where local people hang out,” says Ilona Lantos who has curated several group art shows at Verre since 2018 and is an artist herself.
